Russia Won't Budge From Stand On POWs, Vishinsky Tells U. N.
Compromise Proposals Rejected

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Nov. 10 (AP)—Andrei Y. Vishinsky said today the Soviet Union will "not budge" from its demand for repatriation of all prisoners of war in Korea. He rejected two compromise proposals and renewed his appeal for a new commission to settle the Korean conflict.

An American spokesman said immediately that the U. N. never would consent to driving prisoners of war back to Communist countries against their will. Other delegations gloomily agreed that the Korean stalemate continued unabated and that Vishinsky had done nothing to point the way to a solution.

The red-faced Soviet foreign minister insisted time and again, in a two-hour and 32-minute speech to the 60-nation U. N. Political Committee that a prisoner of war is a soldier and has no choice about repatriation under the Geneva Convention.

Reuther, Carey Or Haywood May Take CIO Reins

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 10 (AP)—Walter P. Reuther and James B. Carey stood out today as the two men with the best chance to be called upon to fill Labor Leader Philip Murray's job as president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

Reuther is the fiery, dynamic head of the CIO-United Auto Workers, which boasts 1½ million members. He has a sharp wit and a capacity for hard work, and has few peers in the ranks of labor as a public speaker.

Carey helps Electrical Union

Carey, a young, vigorous man, is head of the smaller CIO-International Union of Electrical Workers. It was Carey who spearheaded Murray's fight against communism in labor unions. When Murray kicked the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers out of the CIO, Carey set up the rival IUE and wooed away about half IUE membership.

A third possibility for the CIO presidency is aging Allan Haywood, vice president of the CIO in charge of organization and now acting as interim president.

While speculation as to his successors went on, Murray's body moved back by plane and train to Pittsburgh, the scene of his greatest triumphs.

Funeral Thursday

Relatives, friends and labor union associates gathered in silent little groups to await the remains of the man who climaxed a lifetime of labor work by organizing the nation's vast, powerful steel industry.

As president of both the CIO and the CIO-United Steelworkers he was regarded as leader by millions of working men and women.

Solemn requiem mass will be celebrated Thursday at 11 a. m. in the Resurrection Church, only a few blocks from the unassuming home in the Brookline section where Murray had lived for many years. Burial will be in the one-time mining suburb of Castle Shannon.

Pickets Removed At H-Bomb Plant

AUGUSTA, Ga., Nov. 10 (AP)—Striking technicians removed picket lines from the site of the Atomic Energy Commission's huge H-bomb plant tonight and radio appeals were broadcast for workers to return to their jobs.

Picket lines and roadblocks were set up today across routes used by the 37,000 workers who are building the sprawling installation in Aiken County, South Carolina, about 14 miles east of Augusta, across the Savannah River.

Joseph Garvin of Philadelphia, representative of the American Federation of Technical Engineers (AFT) claimed the strike shut down all work. The AFT, in an early statement, conceded only that picket lines delayed "hundreds of employees" in getting to work.

The strikers, highly skilled technical workers, quit their jobs in protest of the firing of six of their number by the Miller Electrical Company of Jacksonville, Fla., a subcontractor.

The H-bomb plant is just a few miles from the Augusta National Golf Club where President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower is vacationing.

The decision to withdraw the pickets came at a meeting of the Augusta-Aiken Building Trades Council, a union association. It was not known how many of the night shift's approximately 11,000 workers refused to cross the lines.

Today's Chuckle

Stay at your job and pay your taxes. Thousands of workers in government bureaus are depending on you.

H-Bomb Project Workers Strike

Two pickets meet near an entrance to site of the Savannah River H-bomb plant as electrical workers went on strike at the project near Aiken, S. C., yesterday. The walkout delayed hundreds of workers in getting to their jobs. The striking technicians last night removed the picket lines.

Churchill Says Russia Blocks Peace In Korea

LONDON, Nov. 10 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill tonight accused Russia of blocking peace in Korea in an attempt to scatter the strength of the free world.

Churchill, delivering a major foreign policy address at the annual lord mayor's banquet, said he was anxious for peace in Korea but not "at the price of dishonor."

"It would be a dishonor," he continued, "to send thousands of helpless prisoners of war back by force to be massacred by the Chinese government, which boasts it has actually rid itself of two million of its own people."

Churchill declared that "every kind of reasonable proposal has been made by the Allies," adding: "Matters of 'grave concern'."

"There has been no doubt that so far it has been the policy of Moscow — for reasons which are obvious — to prevent an agreement from being reached. All these matters of grave concern."

He said "there is no doubt that the absorption of so large a proportion of American and United Nations resources in the Far East is to the advantage of Moscow and of the Communist movement as a whole."

That, he said, "is why the Kremlin ordered the original aggression to begin and that was why, after President Truman had effectively marshaled the United Nations to repel it, the so-called truce talks have dragged out over more than a year."

Lord Mayor Inaugurated

"It is a convenient way of dispersing the strength of the free world and preventing or at least delaying the building up of a secure defense against the subjugation of Western Europe."

Churchill spoke amid a scene of traditional pomp and splendor in the ancient London Guildhall, its stone walls and pillars still deeply scarred from wartime German bombing. The occasion was the inauguration of Sir Rupert De La Bere as lord mayor of the city of London. In this case the "city" is a small area of great business offices in the heart of the metropolis.

Plane Wreckage Reported Found On Alaskan Peak

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Nov. 10 (AP)—Search planes sighted wreckage on an Alaskan mountain today which may be the C-119 that vanished Friday with 19 aboard.

In announcing that Tenth Air Rescue fliers had sighted the wreckage, an Alaska Air Command spokesman emphasized that it had not been identified as the missing plane.

However, there is no known wreckage of any other plane in the area.

The debris was sighted on Mt. Silverthorne, about 135 miles north of Anchorage. It was at the 12,000-foot level of the 13,173-foot mountain. It is roughly along the route the C-119 transport was flying with a crew of five from Miami, Fla., and 14 Alaska-based troops when it vanished.

Supreme Court Rebuffs Costello

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—The Supreme Court today turned down big-time gambler Frank Costello's plea for a review of his contempt-of-congress conviction.

The 61-year-old, Italian-born racketeer is serving an 18-month sentence in Atlanta Penitentiary for walking out on the old Senate Crime Investigating Committee after refusing to answer a number of questions about his finances.

In other actions today the Supreme Court:

1. Granted the Times-Picayune Publishing Co. of New Orleans, a review of a lower court decision that it violated the Sherman anti-trust act in its advertising sales policy.

U. S. District Judge Herbert Christenberry held in a decision in New Orleans that the company violated the anti-trust act by requiring advertisers to buy space in both the morning Times-Picayune and the afternoon States. Both papers are published by the company from one plant. The lower court decision came in a civil suit brought by the government against the company.

2. Refused to review a decision that the Atlantic Coastline Railroad may not require segregation of Negro and white passengers in coaches. This let stand a ruling by the U. S. Circuit Court in Richmond, Va., that the railroad's segregation rule was void.

Two Additional ROK Divisions Activated

SEOUL, Korea, Tuesday, Nov. 11 (AP)—U. S. Eighth Army Commander Gen. James A. Van Fleet said today more than two additional divisions of South Korean troops had been activated and would soon be ready for combat.

Van Fleet said the increase should enable the Republic of Korea to take over more of the fighting front than it now guards. He added that no particular assignment was contemplated for the new units at this time.

Asked whether the increase meant a pullback of some American troops in reserve, Van Fleet replied: "Not that I know of."

Top Republicans Believe Truman Lost Adlai Votes

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft and four other Republican leaders were on record today as saying President Truman's whistle-stop speeches were a "plus contribution" to the Democratic campaign.

Wilson Wyatt, Stevenson's campaign manager, commented that some of the things Truman said in attacking Republican Nomininee Dwight D. Eisenhower "seemed very blunt" and were "disturbing" to many people.

But Wyatt said he thinks Truman's whistle-stop speeches were a "plus contribution" to the Democratic campaign.

Dewey Agrees With Taft

Joining Taft in declaring Truman lost votes for Stevenson were Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, House Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts, Chairman Arthur E. Summerfield of the Republican National Committee, and Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. of Massachusetts.

Their views were expressed in telephone interviews published in a copyrighted series of U. S. News and World Report, a weekly news magazine.

Taft said he thought Truman "gave spirit to the Democratic campaign," but contended the President "alienated a lot more (voters) than he acquired" and stirred up antagonisms in people who might otherwise have been friendly to Stevenson.

Taft thinks He Would Have Won

Taft also declared he thinks he would have won the election if he had been nominated, and that the Republicans would have won against any Democratic candidate.

"I might not have won by as large a majority," the Ohio senator said, "but I think I'd have won just about as many states. I think we'd have carried more senators, because I think we would have fought the campaign more on what I think is the fundamental issue."

House GOP Leader Martin took a different view. Asked if he thought the Republicans could have won without Eisenhower, Martin replied:

"No, I'm afraid not. I am inclined to think that Eisenhower is the only man we could have won with this year."

McKeldin Hints He Wouldn't Mind Job Of Naval Secretary

YORK, Pa., Nov. 10 (AP)—The York Dispatch said today Gov. Theodore McKeldin of Maryland hinted rather broadly in a week-end visit at nearby Glen Rock that he wouldn't mind serving as Secretary of the Navy in President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower's Cabinet.

Gov. McKeldin, who placed Eisenhower's name in nomination at the Republican National Convention, was asked by a reporter what place he would prefer in the Cabinet, if one were offered to him.

Maybank Sees Ike Receiving Demo Support

Truman Satisfied With Liaison Men

AUGUSTA, Ga., Nov. 10 (AP)—President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower — counting heavily on winning support of Democrats in Congress — is likely to get it, Sen. Burnet R. Maybank of South Carolina said today.

"While he was in the Army," Maybank told reporters, "Eisenhower repeatedly demonstrated ability to get along with the members of both parties in Congress. The situation isn't quite the same now, but I believe he will make out all right."

Ike Plays Round Of Golf

Maybank was in town for a housing convention being held near Eisenhower's vacation headquarters at the Augusta National Golf Club. The senator, influential in the councils of Southern Democrats, said he had no plans to confer here with the President-elect.

Eisenhower spent the morning answering accumulated mail and then set out for a round of golf when the rain which had kept him indoors let up.

The general's headquarters said he had received President Truman's telegram saying Eisenhower's choice of pre-inauguration liaison representatives with the government was "eminently satisfactory."

Truman also said he appreciated Eisenhower's promptness in naming GOP Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts and Detroit Banker Joseph M. Dodge to the liaison post.

Likely To Get Top Posts

In announcing the appointments yesterday, Eisenhower said Lodge — who was defeated in his bid for reelection — would be his personal representative in all federal departments and agencies except the Budget Bureau. He named Dodge to that bureau.

The President-elect's choices appeared to foreshadow important assignments for both Lodge and Dodge in the new Republican administration taking over when Eisenhower is inaugurated Jan. 20.

Lodge has been mentioned for either secretary of defense or secretary of state, and Eisenhower associates said privately they believe the general wouldn't be asking Dodge to help him out if he didn't have the Detroit in mind for a major assignment in the new administration.

Israeli Officials Laud Weizmann

JERUSALEM, Nov. 10 (AP)—Israel's Parliament paid a moving tribute today to the state's first president, Dr. Chaim Weizmann, whose body lies in state at the presidential residence at Rehovot.

House Speaker and acting President Joseph Sprinzak and Premier David Ben-Gurion delivered eulogies to the 77-year old father of Israel who died of a heart attack early Sunday morning.

Benchers from the Communist left to the Nationalist right were filled for the solemn half hour session after which Parliament adjourned for one week as a sign of mourning.

At Rehovot, thousands of pilgrims, some crying openly and some quietly chanting Hebrew prayers, passed the black-draped catafalque on the great body of world Zionism's greatest leader lay in state. He will be buried tomorrow on his Rehovot estate.

Gambling Syndicate Made Race Bets "Sure Things"

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (AP)—Authorities moved today against an alleged nationwide gambling syndicate accused of smuggling out race track results with a cunning, lightning-fast technique that could assure winning bets.

Three men—two of them from New Jersey—were under arrest as accused members of the syndicate described by Queens District Attorney T. Vincent Quinn as having "fingers in every race track in the country."

Arrested Saturday on charges of conspiracy, bookmaking, contriving a lottery and policy were Rafael Lana, 42, of Union City, N. J.; Rudolph Big Ralph Atlas, 34, of North Bergen, N. J.; and Jacob Pollack, 34, of New York.

The syndicate reportedly had headquarters in Wilmington, Del. Quinn said the gambling organization had such a fast, tricky sys-

RESIGNS—Trygve Lie (above) yesterday resigned as secretary general of the United Nations, saying he was stepping aside in hope it would help bring peace in Korea.

Allies Beat Back Chinese Attacks All Along Front

SEOUL, Korea, Tuesday, Nov. 11 (AP)—United Nations forces threw back Communist attacks at points all along the rain-swept war front this Armistice Day in a land where there is no armistice.

Allied troops, in less than an hour of fighting, early today beat off 300 North Koreans attacking three hills south of Anchor Hill near the eastern end of the battle line.

The Allies yesterday repelled North Korean attacks on Anchor Hill and another crest to the south in 14 hours of bloody fighting. A U. S. Eighth Army briefing officer said yesterday's attack cost the Reds 215 counted dead and an estimated 364 wounded.

Bombers Hammer Reds

AP Correspondent John Randolph reported from the Central Front that South Korean infantrymen and Allied artillery routed a Chinese Communist thrust at Sniper Ridge.

In the air war, Allied light bombers hammered Red supply routes all across the peninsula last night. Pilots claimed destruction of 115 trucks.

Okinawa-based B-29 Superforts bombed a Red billeting and supply center at Pongchong, near Sinanju in Northwest Korea. Others attacked the Kangdong barracks near Pyongyang.

Ground fighting flared anew on the Western Front when Chinese launched their second 350-man attack on Porkchop Hill in four hours. Allied defenders hurled back assaults with heavy casualties.

Close-Quarter Fighting

Front dispatches said the Reds crashed Allied barbed wire defenses and "kept coming" up the slopes where they were engaged in heavy close-quarter fighting. The Reds and Allied defenders grappled with grenades, bayonets, small arms and automatic weapons.

Artillery and mortar fire thundered through the valleys about seven miles southwest of Chonwon. Porkchop Hill lies between Old Baldy and T-Bone Hill—outposts guarding the Allied road hub and supply center at Chonwon. It was the scene of frequent clashes during the summer.

Adlai To Vacation

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 10 (AP)—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson, defeated Democratic presidential candidate, will vacation from Wednesday through the weekend at a Sasabe, Ariz., ranch, about 60 miles south of Tucson.

This could enable gamblers to place last-minute bets on "sure things."

As described by Quinn, here was the setup: A "wig-wag" man at the finish line used arm signals to relay results to a watcher, equipped with a powerful telescope, in a house near the track. The watcher reported winners instantaneously to headquarters by telephone or short-wave radio. A telephone line was kept open, so there would be no delay.

Official results of a race usually aren't posted for about two minutes after a race is over, and only then are results put out by legally authorized reporting services.

Lie Believes Action Might Speed Truce

General Assembly To Pick Successor

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Nov. 10 (AP)—Trygve Lie, buffeted from one side by the Kremlin and from the other by a U. S. congressional committee, submitted his resignation as secretary general of the United Nations today.

In an emotion-choked voice, Lie told the General Assembly he was stepping aside in hope it would help bring peace to Korea. Russia has refused to deal with Lie because of his support of the U. N. in Korea.

Close associates said Lie was "fed up" with the Kremlin's attacks, with alleged sniping from the U. S. Senate subcommittee headed by Sen. McCarran (D-Nev.) and with actions of the U. N.'s Budget Committee slicing big bites from expenditures Lie thinks necessary.

Job Pays $40,000 Year

The resignation will take effect when the General Assembly, acting on a Security Council recommendation, appoints a successor. The job pays $40,000 a year, net. Lie's present term runs until Feb. 1, 1954. He did not set a deadline for appointment of his successor.

Lie's announcement, made with no advance warning, burst on the 60-nation Assembly which had gathered to hear a speech by Foreign Minister Robert Schuman of France.

The audience included U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky.

Speaking slowly, Lie said: "I am stepping aside now because I hope this may help the United Nations to save the peace." The secretary general referred obliquely to the hostility felt towards him by Russia because of his all-out support of the U. N. effort in Korea, and said:

Not Recognized By Russia

"The United Nations has thrown back aggression in Korea. There can be an armistice if the Soviet Union, the Chinese People's Republic and the North Koreans are sincere in their wish to end the fighting."

"If they are sincere, then a new secretary general, who is the unanimous choice of the five great powers, the Security Council and of the General Assembly, may be more helpful than I can be. On the other hand, if the world situation should go from bad to worse, at least I would not want the position of secretary general to hinder in the slightest degree any hope of reaching a new understanding that would prevent world disaster."

The Russians have refused to recognize Lie as secretary general since his first five-year term ended Feb. 1, 1951.

Recruits To Get Short Holidays

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—Christmas and New Year leaves for more than 171,000 Army recruits will be limited to one-day passes under a holiday vacation schedule announced today. Other Army personnel will be eligible for longer leaves.

The Army said the "critical requirement" for an interrupted flow of trained replacements to the forces overseas makes it impossible to suspend any basic training schedules this year. Training was suspended for 10 days last year.

Soldiers who have completed their 16-weeks basic training program will be eligible for leaves beginning Dec. 20 and ending Jan. 5.

A Navy spokesman said these are its plans: Men who reported to boot camps on or after Nov. 7 will be ineligible for holiday leaves but may be granted one-day passes.

Granting of holiday leaves for men who have completed their boot camp basic training will be left up to commanders.

Recruits who have completed six weeks of training will get up to 14 days between Dec. 20 and Jan. 4 but men taking leave at that time will have a proportionate period subtracted from the leave normally granted after completion of boot training.

Ike Shoots 91 For 18

AUGUSTA, Ga., Nov. 10 (AP)—President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower had a putter trouble today in shooting a 91 for 18 holes of golf played through intermittent rain.

Russell Supports Johnson As Demo Leader In Senate

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—Sen. Russell (D-Ga.) announced today he is supporting Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas for Democratic leader of the Senate in the new Congress.

Russell himself has figured prominently in speculation as to who would get the assignment, but he predicted it would go to the Texan.

In the House, meanwhile, a prospective fight over the Republican leader's post was reported brewing. And a key Democrat seeking to avoid a similar dispute over the minority leadership predicted that Speaker of the House Rayburn will accept it.

The Senate Democratic leader's spot is vacant because of the defeat for reelection of Sen. McFarland of Arizona. Russell, who made an unsuccessful bid for the Democratic presidential nomination, told newsmen:

"Senators have highly honored me by suggesting me for the post. However, Lyndon Johnson is my choice for the place and I shall support him. He is highly qualified for the job and in my opinion he will be chosen for it."

Russell said he did not expect the Democrats to make any attempt to organize the Senate when it meets Jan. 3, 17 days before the inauguration of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as president and Sen. Richard M. Nixon of California as vice president.

The count in the new Senate stands at 48 Republicans, one independent and 47 Democrats. If the independent, Sen. Morse of Oregon, voted with the Democrats then Vice President Barkley would break a tie and they would organize the Senate. That would mean Nixon could break a tie in favor of the Republicans. Russell said he did not believe the Democrats would attempt any such maneuver.

"NAZI STORMTROOPERS CLUB" CARD—Police have announced the smashup of a juvenile "Nazi Stormtroopers Club" in New Orleans which issued membership cards bearing the Nazi German swastika and a picture of Adolf Hitler. A dozen boys were arrested and paroled to their parents. The club was blamed for widespread damage, thefts and injury to two persons. Officers also seized 4,000 rounds of stolen .22 caliber ammunition, shotgun shells, a rifle, a shotgun, 36 knives. (AP Wirephoto)

Van Fleet Quote Stirs New Storm

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—Gen. James A. Van Fleet, Allied commander in Korea, was quoted today by a former staff officer as saying it would take a "long, long time" for the South Koreans to learn how to use modern military weapons.

Li. Col. Melvin B. Voorhees, former chief censor of the U. S. Eighth Army in Korea, used the quote in a book, "Korean Tales," to be published tomorrow by Simon and Schuster. Even in advance of publication, the book stirred up a controversy in the Army.

Van Fleet added, Voorhees wrote, that it would take "longer still" for the South Koreans or any army to learn how to use effectively highly technical equipment.

"So don't expect our ROK (Republic of South Korea) friends to pick all this up in a few months," the general is quoted as saying. "To give them equipment they haven't the technique to handle would only burden them unnecessarily and unfairly."

Voorhees did not specify how or when the quotation was obtained. Van Fleet's views on the South Korean forces were drawn into the political campaign when President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower quoted him as saying in a personal letter that he had been turned down on a proposition to increase the training program from 10 to 20 ROK infantry divisions.

West Germans Elect Several Former Nazis

FRANKFURT, Germany, Nov. 10 (AP)—A surge toward the right swept several former Nazis back into local offices in three key West German state elections.

Three Makes Of GM Autos Will Offer Air Conditioning

DETROIT, Nov. 10 (AP)—Three makes of cars in the General Motors 1953 lines will offer refrigerated air conditioning as optional equipment.

Cadillac, Oldsmobile and Buick are making provision for this newest of the extra equipment items. Chrysler also has demonstrated a similar unit, but has not announced whether it will be ready for use in the early 1953 cars.

Chrysler presumably will offer it in two or three of its makes when production gets under way.

Still to be disclosed is the extra cost of the device. Some guesses have put the price at around $600. With power steering, power brakes and an automatic transmission the motorist thus could add $1,000 to his new car and still lack such things as radio and heater, white sidewall tires, glare-proof glass, backup lights, deluxe steering wheel, undercoating and several other items of special equipment.

Auto makers offering power steering report it as one of the most popular extras offered since the introduction of automatic transmissions. Its introduction in the lower priced field probably still is some distance away but it will be offered next year in some of the low-medium price models.

Tax Shakedown Story Is Probed By Grand Jury

WASHINGTON, No. 10 (AP)—Abraham Teitelbaum appeared before a federal grand jury today for a re-telling of his story that two men claiming high Washington connections tried to shake him down for $500,000 two years ago.

The well-to-do Chicago lawyer, who once represented the Capone interests, first told his story to a House subcommittee investigating tax scandals last December.

He testified he had been approached by Frank Nathan, a Pittsburgh promoter, and Bert Naster, Hollywood, Fla., businessman, who claimed to be in a league with a "clique" of Washington officials and who told him he would be in serious income tax trouble unless he met their demands.

Nathan and Naster both swore that Teitelbaum's story was untrue.

Another witness on hand as the grand jury investigation began was an attractive dark-haired woman court attaché identified as the former Mrs. Sheryl Menkin, now Teitelbaum's wife.

She also testified during the congressional inquiry, supporting the lawyer's story that Naster approached him on the tax deal in Miami Beach, Fla.

Mrs. Teitelbaum said Naster claimed he had access to Teitelbaum's personal records through Washington connections and told him he was about to have income tax troubles and might wind up in prison if he didn't let Naster intervene.

She quoted Naster as saying: "I can fix it... I want $170,000 now and I want $325,000 in 72 hours."

Teitelbaum said he turned the deal down.

Holt Files Notice Of W. Va. Recount

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Nov. 10 (AP)—Rush D. Holt, unsuccessful Republican candidate for governor, filed notice in Marion County Court today that he would ask for a recount of votes.

Holt was represented by John S. McIntire, Fairmont attorney and defeated GOP candidate for attorney general. The court began its official canvass of ballots today.

Court President Chilton A. Campbell said bond for the recount probably would be fixed Wednesday, but that any recount could not be undertaken before next week.

Campbell noted that the bond covers the cost of a recount. If an error is found in the applicant's favor, the court bears the cost.

The unofficial vote count in Marion County gave William C. Marland 19,685 and Holt 15,323.

Absentee Votes Give Rep. Moulder Victory

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 10 (AP)—A tabulation today of absentee ballots showed Rep. Morgan Moulder (D-Mo.) won reelection by a narrow margin over former Rep. Max Schwabe, Republican.

Complete returns, except for the absentee vote in one of the 17 counties of the 11th Missouri District in the central part of the state, gave Moulder 73,647 votes and Schwabe 72,867—a margin of 771 votes. The missing absentee vote could not offset Moulder's lead.

Editor Who Wrote He Had Cancer Dies

TAMPA, Fla., Nov. 10 (AP)—A. P. Cooke, 54, editor and publisher of the Plant City Courier who announced to his readers three months ago he had cancer, died today.

Cooke wrote calmly in his column back in August that he would not be with his readers for a while. He said he had been told he had cancer, but was not despairing because his case had been detected in the early stages and doctors said that was half the battle.

Then he went to New York for an operation, and it looked as if he might be on the road to recovery.

Complications from cancer helped bring on death.

Air Force And Navy Set Rocket Records

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—The Air Force has fired more rockets and dropped more napalm bombs on enemy targets in Korea than it did during all of World War II.

And the Navy has fired many more rockets than it did in the struggle with Germany and Japan.

These statistics were released by the Defense Department today in a summary of comparative ammunition expenditures.

FALSE TEETH

That Loosen
Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.—Advertisement.

New Violence In South Africa

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, Nov. 10 (AP)—Violence erupted again tonight in the riot-torn east coast port of East London, where police fired for the second day on Negro demonstrators.

Across the Buffalo River from yesterday's and today's clashes in a native settlement in East London, natives tonight set fire to a Roman Catholic church. Priests salvaged the vestments from the sacristy, but the church was burned out. An attempt also was made to burn down an administrative office.

The new violence followed a strike by thousands of sullen Negroes in another Cape Province city, Port Elizabeth, more than 150 miles southwest of East London. Racial violence has been flaring up at various places in South Africa as a result of non-white opposition to the government's policies of white supremacy and racial segregation.

Today's outbursts in East London, less furious than yesterday's eight-hour battle, came as police fired on Negroes who stoned firemen attempting to put out a fire previously set by the mob.

Casualties from today's clash had not been disclosed. Latest tally for yesterday's riots was two whites and seven Negroes killed and 30 persons, including three policemen, wounded. One of the whites was a Catholic medical nun and the other an insurance agent. One policeman was shot by a native.

Painters Register Complaint With City

A representative of the local Painter's union registered a complaint with the Mayor and Council yesterday over city employees doing large painting jobs.

Reference was made to the city warehouse which was partially advertised for bids for painting. The spokesman said the remaining part of the warehouse constituted a fair-size job and "we need all the work we can get right now."

Both Mayor Roy W. Eves and Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, commissioner of streets and Public property, said they recognized the union's problem but that the union should try to see the city's side, especially when it involves spending taxpayer's money.

Suppressing Medical Abuses

The medical profession is undertaking a new drive to protect the public against certain widespread unethical practices. The American College of Surgeons announces a renewed effort to stamp out fee-splitting and ghost surgery (sub-letting an operation to a surgeon not known to the patient). Fee splitting is considered not only dishonest but an encouragement to much unnecessary surgery. The practice is specifically banned in the ethical code of the American Medical Association, by the College of Surgeons, and by most hospitals. It is prohibited by law in 23 states.

Even more dangerous to the public than these commercial practices are the unorthodox "cures" promoted by quacks and medical cultists—some of them licensed physicians, some out-and-out frauds. Gullibility in regard to magic remedies is particularly prevalent among the chronically ill and the psychologically unstable who rarely receive from legitimate practitioners the attention they think they deserve.

The Federal Food and Drug Administration has authority to prevent shipment of mislabeled drugs and medical devices across state lines, but cannot forbid the local practice of medicine by fraudulent healers. Recent federal action on misbranding charges has been taken against "herb doctors" peddling cure-alls in Oklahoma and Tennessee, against a Los Angeles chiropractor who claimed her radio machine could "tune in" the patient's illness, a Tampa osteopath who used a simple electrical box to treat illnesses ranging from cancer to paralysis, and a Dallas cancer clinic which dosed patients with medicines said to have been first compounded a century ago.

The greatest menace today, according to the AMA, is the cancer quack, because his treatment sometimes prevents the patient from receiving genuine therapy until the disease has progressed to a fatal stage. The cancer quack's victims include not only real cancer sufferers, but many persons who only think they have the disease. The AMA lists the following types of therapy now being used to treat cancer which are useless if not harmful: palliatives (particularly certain mineral solutions in colloidal form), caustic pastes applied externally, synthetic antitoxins, serums, special diets, sundry gadgets that are supposed to force cancerous tissue out of the system. The profession warns that cancer can be diagnosed only by biopsy and treated only by X-ray, radium or surgery.

A new field for quackery is the field of mental therapy. Numerous diploma-mill schools and institutes have sprung up to teach the art and some of their graduates are today giving a form of ineffective psychological treatment. Laxity of licensing laws for psychologists (only five states have such statutes) has permitted relative freedom of operation for these frauds.

Control of irresponsible medical practice presents formidable difficulties because even the best doctors cannot always improve the patient's health. The personality and promotional talents of the quack are his most effective weapons against the efforts of the profession to suppress him. Litigation against the most successful among the charlatans typically drags on for years and, if successful, only partially restrains their operations.

The medical societies can discipline members who go beyond the bounds of ethical practice by bringing charges before their own tribunals, and, if the member is found guilty, expelling him. This punishment, however, does not deny him the right to practice under the license he holds from the state.

The most controversial recent case of this nature concerned Dr. Robert E. Lincoln of Medford, Mass., a respected physician who received national publicity last year when his cancer "cure" was hailed by Senator Tobey in the Congressional Record. Dr. Lincoln had long been in conflict with the professional medical organizations in his area on grounds of unorthodox practice and was finally ejected from the Massachusetts Medical Society last spring.

Bolivia Tries Stealing

The new Bolivian government, in power since a bloody revolt last April, has announced that it is nationalizing the Patino, Aramayo and Hochschild tin mines. The action comes only a month after the United States and Bolivia ended their stalemate of more than a year on the price to be paid for Bolivian tin.

Bolivia is second only to Malaya as a producer of tin, a strategic war material, so consequences of the decision may be of serious concern to the United States. It will also be of some concern to American investors, who hold one-third of the shares of the three companies.

In this instance at least, the word "nationalization" seems to be a euphemism for outright stealing. The three companies are valued by their own officials at a total of $60,000,000. Bolivia proposes to fix an arbitrary price of $21,725,000 and apparently intends to enforce that price without submitting it to any impartial tribunal for review.

But Bolivia obviously doesn't intend to pay even the $21,725,000. The government has announced it will not pay until the companies come across with $540,000,000 in "assessments" the government says they owe.

The present National Revolutionary Movement government in Bolivia has ties, apparently, with Peron of Argentina and his "justicialism"—a cloudy gaucho mixture of communism and fascism. It was charged that the April revolt which gave it power was supported by weapons and cash supplied by Argentina, and Bolivia has since granted Argentine interests various monopolies, including one in tin smelting.

Getting Results

J. Edgar Hoover, FBI director, has been warning Americans over the years not to underestimate the menace of Communist infiltration. He is in a position to know.

One of the FBI's major jobs has been to get the inside dope on persons suspected of subversive activities, turning evidence that warrants prosecution over to the Department of Justice. Already 85 key leaders of the Communist party have been indicted on evidence provided by the FBI, and 31 have been convicted under the Smith Act.

This is the FBI's way of fighting communism—find out the truth and submit it to the courts. It is the only way to defeat communism, says Mr. Hoover in a recent article in Pathfinder magazine.

"Vigilante attacks, irrational tirades and forceful suppression," the head G-man says, "increase and do not decrease the menace." Such activities "result only in making martyrs of the Communists." Posing as a persecuted minority helps them raise funds and recruit members.

The FBI doesn't make much noise about the job it is doing. But if Mr. Hoover is right this is a field in which noise is in inverse proportion to results.

How To Keep Well

Painstaking Care Of Prematures

Premature infants are born with two strikes against them. The tots are so under-developed they have difficulty coping with the external hazards of their environment and consequently hover between life and death for 24 hours after birth. It is understandable why the little tikes require skilled care and gentle handling.

The dangers of prematurity are well demonstrated by recent statistics from California. In that state, 99 out of every 100 full term babies survive the first month after delivery whereas only 5 out of 100 premature infants are alive at the end of that time. The figures become more startling when stated in another way. In California, this means that 5,000 premature infants die annually whereas only 500 would have succumbed had their mothers been able to carry them to full term. When these cases are multiplied by similar occurrences in other states it is easy to understand why the medical profession is doing everything possible to prevent prematurity and to offer infants who come into the world with this handicap the best of medical care.

The causes of prematurity vary. Some result from direct damage to the infant; in others, labor is induced early to relieve distress in the mother. Multiple pregnancy is the most common origin and explains why twins and triplets usually are born early and are of small size. Premature labor also occurs in women suffering from syphilis, nephritis, tuberculosis, heart disease, glandular disturbances, nutritional deficiencies, or toxemia. The same effect is produced by disturbances of the uterus and birth canal, such as rupture of the membranes weeks before confinement is anticipated. Prematurity also favors women of advanced age and those who have one baby after another without adequate rest in between.

The general health of the mother is an important factor and because women have acquired the habit of consulting the physician periodically during pregnancy the incidence of prematurity has been reduced considerably. The medico is in a position to detect infections such as syphilis and tuberculosis and pays special attention to the nutritional status of the expectant mother. On the other hand there are numerous instances in which prematurity is inevitable and it is here that most of the research is being done.

The care and management of a "preemie" will require constant observation, particularly during the first 24 hours because it is in this period that the majority succumb. Arrangements must be made for a heated crib or incubator and oxygen. Many of the larger hospitals are equipped with separate departments; the nursery is air conditioned and each child is isolated. Prematures lack immunity hence find it difficult to overcome infections, which is the chief reason why visitors are not allowed in the nursery. Furthermore, strict aseptic technique is maintained at all times.

The child is handled carefully to avoid fatigue. The little fellows rarely are fed during the first 12 hours but by the end of 24 hours are receiving a formula of diluted milk at two hour intervals. They usually are kept in the hospital until they have attained a weight of at least 5 pounds 8 ounces. This means that a satisfactory adjustment to a feeding schedule has been made. The same type of care is advised during the early stay at home.

REPLY
Infections of the nose and throat have been listed as possible causes of appendicitis but the concept is somewhat far fetched.

Mrs. W. writes: Can a person whose gall bladder has been removed eat eggs?

REPLY
Yes.

SPINAL PAINS

News Blackout Urged For Eisenhower's Korea Trip; New GOP Administration Faces Many Changes; Ike Shunned Isolationists Toward Campaign's End

WASHINGTON—I would like to urge fellow newsmen, radio commentators, and the American public generally to undertake a voluntary news blackout on General Eisenhower's forthcoming trip to Korea. In brief, the time of his departure, arrival in Japan, departure from Japan to Korea, ought not to be published.

While the first lap of the trip across the Pacific to Japan carries no great danger, the second lap behind the battle lines of Korea could be one of the most dangerous ever undertaken by a President-elect of the United States.

When President Roosevelt took similar trips to Casablanca, Teheran and Yalta, the time of departure, arrival, and even the fact that he planned such trips were military secrets. No word was published in the press.

Danger to Gen. Eisenhower is not from any deliberate Communist attack. Presumably the men in the Kremlin don't want to plunge the world into war. But the suicidal mania of oriental warriors is all too well known to risk a drunken pilot or group of Chinese kamikazes who, flying only a few miles, could create a crisis leading to demands for World War III.

While Gen. Eisenhower will be meticulously guarded, there is no use taking chances by giving away the details of his itinerary.

It's a lot tougher shifting administrations than it was 20 years ago. As a result, Eisenhower and advisers will have to burn a lot of midnight oil. Twenty years ago, when Herbert Hoover handed things over to Franklin Roosevelt, there was no atomic energy, no Korean War, no military draft, no threat of Russia, no foreign-aid program, no radar ring defending the U.S.A.

There wasn't even a Pentagon in 1932. The State Department was a fraction of its present size, and the War Department shared the same building. Major Eisenhower had an unobtrusive desk in that building in the outer office of Gen. MacArthur—extreme outer office. He was a ghost-writer for the chief of staff.

The budget was only $4,659,000 in 1932, and the government collected only $1,924,000,000 in taxes. Today the budget is $79,000,000,000 and the annual tax take is $68,700,000,000. Labor unions had only 3,226,000 members then; today they have 16,000,000. There was no television, not much radio, no big commercial airlines, not much air mail, no Tennessee Valley Authority.

But there was a depression. And FDR, facing the same personal tensions with Herbert Hoover that Eisenhower does with Truman, came to Washington for conferences which yielded nothing.

The time elapsing between the Presidential takeover was longer then—November to March. But the economy is now gigantic, dynamic, and delicate. Indecision, crossed-up co-operation, or even such a thing as a small increase in the interest rate on government bonds, could throw our economics off balance.

fact that he planned such trips were military secrets. No word was published in the press.

Danger to Gen. Eisenhower is not from any deliberate Communist attack. Presumably the men in the Kremlin don't want to plunge the world into war. But the suicidal mania of oriental warriors is all too well known to risk a drunken pilot or group of Chinese kamikazes who, flying only a few miles, could create a crisis leading to demands for World War III.

While Gen. Eisenhower will be meticulously guarded, there is no use taking chances by giving away the details of his itinerary.

1932-1952
It's a lot tougher shifting administrations than it was 20 years ago. As a result, Eisenhower and advisers will have to burn a lot of midnight oil. Twenty years ago, when Herbert Hoover handed things over to Franklin Roosevelt, there was no atomic energy, no Korean War, no military draft, no threat of Russia, no foreign-aid program, no radar ring defending the U.S.A.

There wasn't even a Pentagon in 1932. The State Department was a fraction of its present size, and the War Department shared the same building. Major Eisenhower had an unobtrusive desk in that building in the outer office of Gen. MacArthur—extreme outer office. He was a ghost-writer for the chief of staff.

Matter Of Fact

By JOSEPH And STEWART ALSOP

The Pressure On Eisenhower

WASHINGTON

President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower's plans for a worry-free and badly needed vacation have been shattered, for a reason easily visible to the naked eye here in Washington. To an extent which has to be seen to be believed, the government of the United States, which has been in a coma throughout the campaign months, has now been seized with total paralysis.

No one in the government has any real authority to make any decisions whatsoever. Meanwhile, decisions of immense importance, which have been filed and forgotten pending the outcome of the election, urgently need to be made. Thus there is very heavy pressure on the President-elect to assume responsibility before he assumes office.

It is to Eisenhower's great credit that he has responded to this situation as he has. Instead of simply letting the Truman administration founder along somehow (as Franklin D. Roosevelt let the Hoover administration founder) he has quickly agreed to a sort of tandem arrangement for restoring the government's authority. Eisenhower representatives in the State and Defense Departments will fly dual-control, as it were, with the Truman-appointed officials, during the interim period before Eisenhower takes office.

Will Restore Direction

Neither Eisenhower himself nor the representatives to the State and Defense Departments whom he names, of course, can take full responsibility for decisions, until Eisenhower is in fact President of the United States. Yet this tandem arrangement will at least restore some sense of direction to the government. The representatives named by Eisenhower will not necessarily be his final choice for chiefs of the key departments, but Eisenhower is expected to make known his final choice soon, almost certainly before he goes to Korea. In short, circumstances are causing the President-elect, very soon after the election, to begin to choose the key men who will deeply effect the future course of his administration.

This was inevitable, but in some ways it is a pity that it should be so. The selection of a new cabinet is a most serious business. As President Truman himself has reason to know, a bad choice can be disastrous. Yet Eisenhower is now placed in the position of making major and vitally important appointments, under great pressure, and with not much time for consultation and discussion.

There was no discussion at all of post-election appointments during the whole campaign period. Eisenhower was so determined to remain a "no deal" candidate, that he flatly refused to discuss individual appointments. Even now, not one of the men who lived virtually in Eisenhower's pockets during the months of the campaign has any real idea at all of whom Eisenhower will choose for the most important posts.

Guessing Is Futile

All they can offer is certain rather negative clues. On the basis of the personal relations between the two men, for example, certain astute Eisenhower advisers do not believe that New York's Governor Thomas E. Dewey is necessarily a front runner for one of the key posts. Moreover, for what it is worth, other Eisenhower intimates believe that the relationship between Eisenhower and John Foster Dulles is not as close as would normally be expected between a President and his secretary of State. Eisenhower is also quoted as remarking that he did not want a "Wall Street man" in the Treasury, and that he would like to see a businessman in the Defense Department, which may offer some indication of his intentions.

But trying to guess the President-elect's intentions at this point is a pretty fruitless business. What is really important is that Eisenhower, after his tremendous personal triumph at the polls, is potentially very much in the driver's seat where foreign and defense policy are concerned. He has a great opportunity to form a decisive, coherent policy, free of the sterile wrangling with Congress which has characterized the recent past. But Eisenhower is politically an inexperienced driver, and he is now being asked to start driving even before his seat is warm.

Moreover, as Senator Robert A. Taft's reported decision to seek a place on the Foreign Relations Committee suggests, Eisenhower's position on the driver's seat may not go unchallenged for very long. In fact, who is really to do the driving in the next four years may well be determined in the first few weeks after January 20.

In this situation, the relatively inexperienced Eisenhower will desperately need, as his spokesmen in the major posts, men of great experience and real political influence of their own. These men must be ready, willing, and able to insist on a real Eisenhower policy, and to resist the backward-looking and cut-rate defense and foreign policy which will certainly be advocated by powerful Republicans on Capitol Hill. Thus it is a pity that Eisenhower must decide these absolutely vital appointments under great pressure, and without much time for reflection and consultation. But Eisenhower has chosen good men under pressure before, and it is at least comforting that the infinitely dangerous paralysis of the American government is being brought to an end.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Ching Nu-Chi

One is ever learning new things about our relations with China. Slowly the mosaic is being filled in showing the tragic pattern of errors which has brought on the greatest disaster in our history. We have lost a war; we have lost an historic ally; we have become involved in the Korean War because of errors made in our China policy between 1945 and 1949.

In "The Enemy Within," a book on the Communist conquest of China by Father Raymond J. de Jaeger and Irene Corbally Kuhn, I read for the first time the story of Ching Nu-chi, a Chinese Communist who had got the job of chief secretary of the Chinese Documents Secretariat under General George Marshall. Little by little, the story unfolds, mostly in books written by those who were on the scene or by those who have access to hidden documents.

Ching Nu-chi had been a student in Chicago. In China, he was employed by the American government and serviced the Marshall mission in China. As he was in charge of everything translated from the Chinese, he was in a pivotal position to twist all the documents to favor the Chinese Communists. He could withhold data which Marshall should have seen. Subsequently, he wrote a book, entitled "Secret Report on the United States—Chiang Kai-shek Conspiracy." This was published in Hongkong in 1949. It disclosed the Communist character of this American employee.

Ching Nu-chi was in a position to know the plans and secrets of both the Marshall and Wedemeyer missions to China; in his book he publishes some top secret documents which are still unknown to the American people. For approximately four years, this Chinese Communist was so employed. It is a little difficult to understand what our intelligence officers were doing when they permitted such conditions to exist, or were they helpless in the face of General George Marshall's obvious preference for Chinese Communists?

Father de Jaeger tells of a curious experience with General Marshall's office in Peiping. He had tried to make an appointment to see General Marshall through Captain James Grant. He went to the headquarters in Peiping, but Captain Grant had gone to Mukden. Instead he encountered a Chinese attendant. Let me give it in Father de Jaeger's words:

Carlson of Kansas, a great moderator and conciliator; brother Milton Eisenhower, former New Dealer; Gen. Wilton G. Persons, an old Army friend; Governor Dewey, kept in the shadow, but a potent adviser; Arthur Summerfield, GOP national chairman, the man who put across Ike's endorsement of McCarthy.

"The Chinese looked me over with curling lip and patronizing air. 'The general is very busy. He won't be able to see you,' he said with the faintest shade of contempt on the you. 'Besides,' he added, 'he knows whatever it is that you think you can tell him!'

"This gratuitous observation made me quite angry. 'How do you know what is in my head?' I don't pretend to know what is in yours."

"He made a sarcastic rejoinder and we had a small argument, but I soon saw that he had no intention of checking on any appointment Captain Grant may have made for me or making any slightest effort in my behalf. I made no further attempt to see General Marshall at this time, since he was leaving Peiping almost at once."

Apparently the Chinese Communists had so thoroughly surrounded General Marshall in Peiping that it was difficult for others to see him. This was the period when Marshall was organizing truce talks similar to those from which we are now suffering in Korea. After months of talks and maneuvering, the Chinese Communists had placed themselves in position to hold Manchuria and to invade North China. Actually, General Marshall's strategy had accomplished for the Chinese Communists what they could not accomplish for themselves.

Father de Jaeger, who tells of these incidents as an eyewitness, is a Belgian priest who has been a missionary in China and who was caught in the Communist conquest of China. His description of this period is exciting and historically important.

Father Mark Tennen writes of a later period in this conquest in his book "No Secret Is Safe—Behind the Bamboo Curtain." While Father de Jaeger presents the political and social transformation of China, Father Tennen gives the human side of the tribulations and trials of an innocent people tortured by their own sons in the interests of an enemy.

And so the story, about which so many official lies were told, comes to us in detailed truth. And there will be more to follow.

Body Of Retired Miner Is Found In Thomas Dam

Victim Is Identified As Alexander Burdock

The body of a retired Thomas, W. Va., coal miner was found yesterday morning in the reservoir at the Thomas Dam by volunteer firemen of that community following a lengthy search by residents.

The death of Alexander Burdock, 69, was attributed to suicide, according to D. E. Cuppett, prosecuting attorney for Tucker County.

Cuppert last night said there were no indications of foul play and the victim's cap and sweater had been found along the bank near where the body was recovered. The water at the point, about 30 feet from shore, was about 15 feet deep, Cuppett added.

Missing Sunday
The victim was said to have had silicosis, a respiratory disease suffered by miners. No coroner's inquest was necessary, Cuppett added.

Mr. Burdock was last reported seen about 3 p. m. Sunday and neighbors began a search for him. At 2 o'clock yesterday morning volunteer firemen were summoned and they recovered the body about an hour later. Investigating for the West Virginia State Police was Trooper G. H. Phillips of the Thomas detachment.

The victim was a native of Frostburg and was born May 4, 1883 and was a son of the late George and Agnes (Morris) Burdock and had resided in Thomas since 1910.

Survivors Listed
He was a member of Local 4113, United Mine Workers of America. Surviving, besides his widow, Mrs. Anna Helen (Wenzel) Burdock, are two sons, William E. Burdock, Cumberland; Bernard W. Burdock, Thomas; two sisters, Mrs. Anna Walsh, Frostburg; Mrs. Laura Shorter, Cleveland; a brother, Richard Burdock, Frostburg, and three grandchildren.

The body is at the Duncan Funeral Home, Thomas, where a service will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. by Rev. Andrew B. Mann, pastor of Thomas Presbyterian Church. Interment will be in Rose Hill Cemetery.

Members of Local 4113, UMW, will conduct a graveside service.

NABBED BY POSSE—Earl Bachtell, 22-year-old paroled Army deserter, is shown with the artillery he had when arrested in Hagerstown Friday by a posse using walkie-talkies to help snap shut their mantrap. His arrest followed a long series of burglaries and break-ins in the nearby Pondsville area. House breaking charges were filed against Bachtell.

Long Drought Decreases City Water Reserves

Lake Koon Drops Two Feet A Week

Cumberland's water reserves are being depleted steadily by the long dry spell but officials said the situation is not serious.

City water consumption which totaled 87,250,000 gallons last week, has been dropping the water level of Lake Koon about two feet a week.

On Sunday, the water level in that 2,250,000 gallon reservoir had dropped 22 feet, four inches below the crest of the dam as water in Lake Gordon was kept about a foot short of overflowing.

Level Is Dropping
George M. Hitchcock, superintendent of the Evitts Creek Water Company, said the city can draw 20 more feet of water out of the dam until the 42 foot mark is reached.

The dam must be kept at that level, he said, in order to protect the fish and other marine life which are necessary to maintain healthy water.

Hitchcock said three or four days of promised rain would replace the water of Lake Koon to a comfortable level.

When the level of Lake Koon drops 42 feet below the spillway, he explained, all water is taken from Lake Gordon, which has so far been kept virtually full.

Have Big Capacity
The task of filtering the water is easier, Hitchcock said, when the lower reservoir, Lake Gordon, can be made to serve as a settling tank.

before the water is filtered and purified.
Some 3½ billion gallons of water are impounded by the city's two reservoirs. Lake Gordon, which was built in 1913, covers an area of 178 acres and impounds 1,300,000,000 gallons of water. Lake Koon, completed in 1932, impounds 2,300,000,000 gallons of water.

A National Education Association survey recently showed that adult education in this country is now at an all-time high. Schools and community college are putting greater emphasis than ever before upon study programs for adults. From 1947 to 1951, enrollment in public school adult activities increased 51.2 per cent. Nearly 4,750,000 adults were enrolled in school programs in 1951.

The trend here in Allegany County until this term matched the national tendency. Lonnholm believes that it would have continued this year had it not been necessary to announce prior to registration that the program would have to be curtailed because of the state aid cut.

One thing is sure. More and more adults realize that they should do something to make up for shortcomings in their earlier formal education.

Reports On Finances

The city has $775,813.68 in its General Account, Finance Commissioner William V. Keegan reported yesterday. The Water Department account had a balance of $102,527.67 on October 30, he added.

Cause Of Brown Spots In Wash Dresses Found

The cause of those brown spots and holes appearing in our cotton wash dresses has been solved in the U. S. Department of Agriculture textiles laboratory. Everything from new washing equipment to insects had been suspected.

Textiles specialists find that many of the newer zippers contain two metals—copper and aluminum. When wet garments are kept in contact with these different metals, a chemical reaction sets in. Enough acid is given off to damage the fabric.

Then, when the dress is ironed, the damage shows up in spots and holes. In addition to dampness, the fabric must also contain some substance that will conduct electricity. That could be minerals from hard water, salt in liquid starch—or even some detergent that hasn't been removed by rinsing.

You can guard against brown spots and holes caused by two-metal zippers if you'll press the dress as soon as it is dry enough for ironing. Avoid sprinkling and rolling up the dress before ironing, if possible.

If the dress has dried and must be dampened for ironing, leave the fabric around the zipper dry and dampen the rest of the dress.

School, College Problems Aired By Educators

KEYSER — One college and several high schools of the area came a few steps closer to understanding their separate and mutual problems as a result of a meeting Saturday on the Potomac State College campus.

Meeting in a point session were representatives of high schools and county educational systems, college students, and faculty members of Potomac State. Theme of the meeting was "Bridging the Gap Between High School and College."

President E. E. Church pointing out that though the chief function of the secondary school is not to prepare its students for college, there is a job to be done jointly and separately by high schools and colleges in helping students to understand their need for education beyond the secondary level and prepare them for it.

With college students forming the first round table under the leadership of Dean K. S. McKee, discussion brought forth several recommendations from a committee consisting of M. M. Heiskell, principal, Ridgeley High School; Thomas H. Siles, principal, Petersburg High School; and J. Kenna Burke, instructor in social studies, Potomac State.

(1) That orientation on the matter of attending college begin earlier than it now does, possibly in the sophomore year; (2) that there be a closer relationship among colleges, boards of education, principals, teachers and parents in the total guidance program; (3) that seniors who have decided on some future course be given extra counseling in that area and those who want to go to college but cannot decide upon a definite course be given tests of a vocational nature to facilitate the decision; (4) that colleges visiting high schools should continue their project but should study ways to avoid duplication of purpose and consider the possibility of meeting as a group with all the high schools of a given area.

Personnel of secondary schools aired their views in the second session, in which Parker C. Black, principal, Keyser High School, was leader.

This group consisted of J. P. Judy, principal, Fort Ashby High School; John Dice, principal, Franklin High School; and R. L. Dennison, director of agriculture, Potomac State. Discussion by the high school people showed (1) a need for cutting down differences between state and college requirements, (2) less visits of high school students to colleges and more emphasis on college representatives visiting high schools, and (3) that a committee of high school principals meet with college representatives in future panels to discuss these problems.

James Goldsworthy, assistant principal, Keyser High School; W. E. Michael, biological sciences department, Potomac State; and A. G. Springer, assistant superintendent, Mineral County Schools formed a committee to make the following recommendations based on the third discussion period in which the college stated its case:

(1) That a staff from the college explore the possibility of helping secondary schools with a vocational testing program, (2) that high schools forward to colleges records of diagnostic tests along with the student's transcript.

Rizer Draws Jail Term In Whisky Theft

Judge Ernest A. See yesterday in Mineral County (W. Va.) Circuit Court sentenced Louis James Rizer Jr., 27, of Baltimore, to a term of from one-to-ten years in the State Penitentiary at Moundsville for his participation in the theft of $700 worth of whisky from the Ridgeley State Liquor Store.

Rizer was indicted by the October Grand Jury along with Douglas White, alias Douglas John Jones, who is being held in a Baltimore jail on a charge of possession of a stolen automobile which was used in the theft.

Rizer, who pleaded guilty to the charge, was recommended for a light sentence by Prosecuting Attorney Donald Hott, who told the Court the prisoner had aided greatly in breaking the case. Clemency was also asked by Rizer's attorney, H. R. Athey. Rizer was eligible for a life sentence. Judge See stated, since he had served previous terms in the Maryland House of Correction and the Maryland State Penitentiary.

Judge See told the prisoner his term would include the time he had spent in the Mineral County Jail but that he would also have to report as a witness in a trial in Morgantown where the two men are being held on charges of buying the stolen whisky. The men are Tommy Scavarello, operator of a night club there, and Tony Torch, a former chief of the Granville (Pa.) police force.

Rizer told Judge See he was willing to testify in the trial even though he was "afraid" of what might happen to him for doing so.

In other cases yesterday, David Clauze, charged with forgery of five checks in the amount of $245, changed his plea to guilty. Court had made restitution and Judge See said sentence would be made Saturday. The case of the State vs. James V. House, involving an automobile accident, was settled out of court.

No cases will be heard today, court announced, and any scheduled will be tried tomorrow.

Paying Election Bet Can Be Costly, Area Man Learns

KEYSER—Marvin Sheetz probably will be careful about the kind of election bets he makes in the future.

Sheetz, who is 58, bet Elmer J. Hartman, former city councilman, that Stevenson would win last Tuesday's election. So did Richard C. Herndon, another former councilman.

On Sunday, Sheetz and Herndon were to pay off their bet by wheeling Hartman across the new Memorial Bridge between Keyser and McCoole, Md.

Sheetz had just finished wheeling Hartman from McCoole to Keyser when he had a sudden pain in his chest. He drove home with his wife while Herndon paid off his half of the bet by wheeling Hartman back to McCoole.

At home in McCoole, Sheetz had a heart attack and had to go to bed. He was in good condition at his home last night, and physicians said the attack had been a mild one.

SRC To Ask Bids On New County Garage And Office

The road project is the widening, relocating and hard-surfacing of the Vale Summit Road from Clarysville to Vale Summit. The Cumberland Contracting Company did the work at a cost in excess of $400,000.

The second part of the Vale Summit Road project from a point just beyond Vale Summit to Miller, near Midland, is underway. This work consists of grading and erection of two box culverts at present. About two more weeks will be required to finish this phase of the work.

The entire highway job is to be resumed next spring when surfacing work will be done, according to Chaires. This part of the project is two and one-half miles length and is costing $411,158.

Grading, drainage and fencing of a five-acre plot of ground on Braddock Road, just beyond the intersection with Winchester and Vocke Roads, has been completed by the George F. Hazelwood Company.

Another highway project in this county has been completed and will be accepted by the State Roads Commission either today or tomorrow, according to G. Bates Chaires, district SRC engineer.

Chaires said that bids on the erection of a large garage and office building to be used to house equipment and personnel of his office will be asked by the SRC in about 10 days. The project is expected to cost in the neighborhood of $250,000.

The garage, which will also have a modern repair shop for the maintenance of 32 large pieces of equipment, will be centrally located in regard to the majority of state highways in Allegany County, Chaires pointed out.

The district and resident engineers office of the SRC has been located at 305 Decatur Street, while the garage and work shop has been maintained for many years at 32 Maple Street. There are eight employees in Chaires' office.

In Garrett County the work of widening and resurfacing State Route 219 from a point near Deep Creek Lake towards Oakland for a distance of 3.12 miles has also been completed and accepted by the SRC, Chaires said.

The Keeley Construction Company of Clarksburg, W. Va., did the work at a cost of $383,000.

Resurfacing of Route 220 from near Cresaptown towards Rawlings with blacktop is about 35 per cent complete. The Cumberland Contracting Company is doing the work.

City Council Approves Liens For South End Sewer Project

Filing of formal liens against property owners affected by a sewerage program on East First Street received approval of the Mayor and Council yesterday.

Affected is the area on East First between Wempe Drive and Blackstone Avenue. Net cost to be pro-rated among residents is $2,862. Total cost of the project is $3,800, less cost of 16 taps, making the final sum $3,400.90.

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan said the cost is $3.55 per lineal foot which is divided by property owners on both sides of the street. The council also authorized

Finan to prepare a resolution to accept a portion of Second Street running through the Mapleside Housing project. The Housing Authority had passed a resolution asking that the roadway be included in the public street system.

Referred to Finan was the request of George Winner, Frostburg, for adjustment growing from the loss of a tire on a piece of steel protruding from a local sidewalk.

Payment of $25,783.79 to the George F. Hazelwood Company, the third installment on filter work at Lake Gordon, was approved.

Herman Victor Oster was authorized a refund of $26.18 for over-payment of taxes and Mrs. J. A. Wiant the sum of $127.67 for damage to the plumbing of the 205 Valley Street residence during flood control work.

City employees will receive checks for the first two weeks of November on Friday.

Water consumption for the week ending Sunday was 87,250,000 gallons as compared to 74,990,000 during the same period a year ago. The water level at Lake Gordon is one foot four inches below the crest of the spillway and a Lake Koon 22 feet, 4 inches below.

Truck Will Pick Up Relief Items

A truck will be here today to pick up materials donated to the Church World Service Center at New Windsor.

In the Cumberland area, collections are made by churches, service groups, aid societies and others and are taken to Living Stone Church of the Brethren, which serves as the local collection station.

To increase your popularity and abet success in any line, learn to talk well!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Your appearance can attract attention but only your personality can hold it. What determines the interest your personality has for others is your interests. But whether your personality gets across to others depends on your ability to communicate your ideas and thoughts to them.

Anything you do that forces you to organize your thoughts will improve your ability to convey your ideas. That's why keeping up a large correspondence actually helps you to talk well. Taking a course in short-story writing will help even more (try a correspondence course). Both writing and reading sharpen your ear for words and their meanings and help you avoid ambiguity and clouded impressions.

Impromptu Practice If writing seems tedious to you, talk instead. Just talk for ten minutes aloud in private on any familiar subject — your wardrobe, business, hobby, children or news. Start off by stating your subject in one short sentence. Then augment it point by point. Let each sentence develop one point and hint at or lead to the next. This interlocking of sentences gives your ideas coherence, clarity and the progression that piques and holds interest. Be sure that your voice interprets the meaning of your words. Give particular notice to whether your vocal emphasis falls on the words you wish to stress. How important this factor is can be demonstrated with the following sentence.

What's Your Meaning? "Be sure you do it this way." First read the sentence aloud placing emphasis on "sure," the second time, emphasize "you" and the third time, "this." Without a word change, your voice causes the sentence to switch from one of admonition to reprimand and then to one of instruction! The pitfalls of wrong emphasis are easily seen.

Since so much of your popularity and success in whatever you do depends on what you say, is there anything more important than perfecting your command of this primary means of communication? Though your head is filled with the most exciting thoughts and ideas, if your tongue trips over them, they might just as well be left unsaid!

Our booklet, "Your Most Attractive Voice" gives comprehensive information on how to increase vocal charm. To get your copy, see directions below.

YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE You can achieve an appealing, resonant, sonorous voice — one that can be a vibrant attribute to charm and success — by reading the new booklet, YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE, which gives complete instructions on how to overcome such wearisome speaking qualities as toneless, flat, dullness and lack of proper modulation. The Old Second Guesser

by John Wheeler

What's A Name Worth?

We were on our way to the Dutch Treat Club lunch.

"Have you heard anything about a new show called 'The Seven Year Itch'?" John Bryce asked John Golden, the producer.

"I certainly have, and I understand it is pretty good," he answered. "I ought to know something about it. They are using my office and telephone rent free. Why are you interested?"

"Because my brother-in-law has put some money in it."

"That's a good enough reason."

"It's got a hell of a name," I observed.

"I'm not sure about that," went on the old pundit. "It's one people will remember."

"How important is a title?" I asked.

"I don't know," said Mr. Golden. "Did you ever go to a show because of its name? Most people go because they hear it's good. Usually some friend, who has seen it and likes it, tells you about it."

"Or the producer gives you a couple of free tickets," I added.

"That's right," he agreed.

"I once went to one on account of the title," said Lawrence Berry.

"It was ten years ago, and the name in electric lights was 'Getting Gertie's Garter' — pretty good it was, too, the show, not the garter."

"I'll tell you a story about the biggest hit I ever had," continued Mr. Golden, now in a reminiscent mood. "It was called 'Lightnin'."

At first I was afraid of the name. One of my assistants said it might frighten women away from the theater. I had an artist draw up posters with the word in big block letters and took them over to the Lamb's Club. I got a hung jury there, so I went ahead. It didn't scare anyone away. They were fighting to get in for months."

The program at the Dutch Treat had two acts — the first a group of Tyrolean dancers and yodelers of both sexes in native costumes imported by Lowell Thomas, and the second item was Dr. George Gallup, the eminent pollster who confided in us how the election was going to turn out, but, since this was "under the rose," as the saying is, I am not free to disclose his conclusions. Anyhow, you know the answers by now. During a rare conversational lull on the return trip, I asked Mr. Golden,

"What did you think of the Tyrolean dancers?"

"What do I think — the same as you do, of course. That reminds me of the two friends in a barroom. One says to the other,

"How do you feel about me?"

"The same as you do about me," he replies.

"Then I ought to punch you in the nose."

We got to talking about political candidates, and one was mentioned — not either Eisenhower or Stevenson.

"I don't want to have anything to do with him or men of his ilk," declared John. Then, thoughtfully, he added, "I like — there's a nasty little word." And it is when you consider it.

As we parted, he said, "If you write anything, put in a boost for my show. 'The Male Animal,' the funniest one I ever put on."

"Don't close it up before my column is published," I warned.

"No, I'll keep it open just for you, Good-bye."

Report Shows Better Labor Relations Here

The federal and state economists and industrial specialists who surveyed Cumberland at the request of the Steering Committee for Economic Development of Allegany County approved labor-management relations here.

The labor situation is contained in the report "Economic Development of the Cumberland Area."

This section is devoted to labor-management relations:

"Labor management relations have improved substantially since the late thirties. It is significant to the future development of the area that management of the important manufacturing — concerns were unanimous in reporting that their relations with the labor unions have been satisfactory for the past several years.

"The concentration of the bulk of labor in a few large industries inevitably has been reflected in a sharp increase in man-days lost whenever a serious labor dispute occurred. Yet, despite the fact that 1949 recorded the second greatest number of man-days lost due to labor disputes, the total number of man-days lost from all causes in that year was the lowest since 1937. This fact is cited in connection with the general agreement of employers that the Cumberland area labor force is a productive one.

"Greater diversification should serve to reduce the over-all effect on the community of friction which results from big-union, big-company controversies. It is notable, too, that the national pattern for labor disputes in the textile industry no longer depends on the settlements at Cumberland."

The 113-page book covers every facet of life and industry in this area.

Car Strikes South End Subway Support

James H. Golden, 35, of 345 Dorn Avenue narrowly escaped serious injury Sunday at 3:35 a. m. when his car crashed against concrete supports in the Virginia Avenue subway, careened off a wall and traveled 150 feet without the front wheels.

Golden forfeited $26.45 bond today in Trial Magistrate's Court for reckless driving. Damage to the vehicle was estimated at $300.

Police said Golden, driving a 1947 Oldsmobile coupe, apparently escaped harm in the spectacular crash.

Keeping Up With Hollywood by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 10.—(INS)—The other night at Bill Goetz' house, Bill was kidding Jimmy Stewart about all the money Jimmy's made on his profit sharing deal at Universal International. "Bend of the River," which was a swell picture, made plenty of moola for our Jimmy, as did "Winchester 73."

"Thunder Bay" is now in its final production stages, and Producer Aaron Rosenberg has the next one ready to offer Jimmy. It's "Fort Starvation," based on a forthcoming novel by Frank Gruber about life in the frontier days of the early west.

Bill bought the story from the galley proofs. The novel, published by Rinehart, comes out in the spring.

I told you a few weeks ago that for the first time since Alice Faye retired from movies she is considering going into an Irving Berlin musical.

Alice, who has been in Palm Springs, drove into town today to talk to her agent about the Berlin deal. She said it was the only movie that appealed to her in six years.

It would have to be someone like Irving Berlin who would get her back to the screen. She once told me she only wanted to do her radio show with Phil Harris.

Although our little Margaret O'Brien, all grown up and beautiful now, would prefer to stay in Hollywood and the movies—she's smart enough not to sit around twiddling her thumbs.

She's going to New York to star in "The Intruder" which Eddie Dowling will produce—and surprise, surprise, angel-face Maggie plays a 16-year-old hellion who sets out to break up her father's second marriage.

Maybe this off-beat casting will help Margaret's screen career. Most film producers still think of her as a typical ingenue and cast her accordingly.

A telephone call came from Mayor Francis Smith of Reno, who wants Hollywood to know how much he appreciates "The Blazing Forest" being premiered there, with proceeds going to the Community Chest.

Several plane loads of stars are being flown up, among them John Payne, Rhonda Fleming, William Demarest, Richard Arlen and Susan Morrow.

This, I am told, is all being paid for by the Golden Hotel, even though it is a John-Thomas picture. Well, thank you, Mayor Smith, for all the nice things you say about Hollywood.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Dorothy Lamour and Bill Howard visiting Bing Crosby in his dressing room. It's wonderful the way Bing is seeing his old friends and concentrating on his movie—the best thing he could do.

Gail Patrick made the best speech of all at the American Association of Advertising Agencies convention and no one is prouder of her than her advertising executive husband, Corny Jackson.

Among Tyrone Power's pals who flew to San Francisco for the "John Brown's Body" premiere Saturday were Cary Grant, Besty Drake and Cesar Romero.

Next big attraction at the Palace, where Judy Garland staged her comeback and Betty Hutton did so well, is Danny Kaye who'll wow them starting in January.

Brooks Versus Henry
A Letter From Akron
Frederick Flies High
Ed Martin Reminisces
By C. V. BURNS

Two former Cumberland athletes — Homer C. Brooks, Jr., and Mel Henry — will direct teams this week in the "big game" at Hagerstown.

Brooks is coach of Frederick High School's Cadets who have won eight consecutive contests, including decisions over seven Maryland public high schools. Henry is grid mentor at Hagerstown High.

If Frederick can knock off Hagerstown in this game the Cadets, no doubt, will lay claim to Western Maryland football honors for the 1952 campaign.

HOMER C. BROOKS, JR.

Hagerstown has beaten Fort Hill, 14-7, and Allegany 7-0 but lost to Montgomery Blair of Silver Spring 25-6, a team that Allegany nosed out by the score of 20-19.

Frederick made it eight in a row Friday by whipping Montgomery Blair, 20-13.

Coach Brooks' team has beaten six other Maryland schools, namely, Bel Air 20-7, Annapolis 21-0, Beall 12-0, Richard Montgomery of Rockville, 21-0, Gaithersburg 45-12 and Bethesda-Chevy Chase 27-13 in addition to Littlestown, Pa., 1-0.

The Hagerstown-Frederick game is set for Friday night in the Hub City. Frederick winds up its season next week by playing Southern High in Baltimore.

No high school football team in Western Maryland has ever won ten consecutive games in a season. The opportunity is now Frederick's but it should find that the last couple of games will be the toughest.

Regardless of the outcome of Friday's game credit is due Homer Brooks for his fine job at Frederick this season. Football has come a long way there after revival of the sport six years ago.

Homer was born in Baltimore 35 years ago but his family moved to Cumberland when he was a little tot. When he attended Allegany High School he never played football but engaged in soccer and basketball.

After being graduated from Allegany in 1935, he matriculated at Potomac State College, Keyser, and from there went to West Virginia University where he was an outstanding varsity basketball player. He received his diploma at Morgantown in 1940.

Brooks is completing his tenth year as a high school coach. He spent one year at Elk Garden High School in Mineral county, W. Va., then moved on to Rowlesburg, W. Va., to coach the River Lions of Preston County for two years.

His third coaching job was at Parsons High School, W. Va., where he tutored teams for four seasons. This is his third year as mentor at the Frederick county school.

Frederick's showing to date certainly entitles Homer C. Brooks, Jr., to consideration in the balloting for Maryland's High School Coach of the Year. His record speaks for itself.

From Akron, Ohio, comes the following letter from Mickey McBee, one-time Bruce High School soccer ace:

"Thursday's issue of the paper just reached me and it sure was good news that old Bruce High came through with another soccer championship.

"You probably will recall it was just 25 years ago that we won our first title in the county only to lose that heartbreaker at Hancock by the score of 2-1 in the state playoff.

"Maybe you could dig up a little dope on these games just to remind the boys that Bruce has won soccer titles before.

"Members of the team were Crowe, Hayden, Patrone, Warnick and Smith on the line; Biggs, Stine and Cutta Harrison at halfbacks; Boyce and McBee at full and Newlon, goalie.

Best regards,
Mickey McBee

PS. I'm temporarily employed at Barberton, Ohio.

Mention of the Cowboy Padgett-Bobby Richardson fight in this column the other day set Eddie "Cannonball" Martin, the ex-pugilist and present day baseball umpire, to reminiscing.

Eddie recalls that none of the other local boxers would work out with Padgett in the gym above the Acorn Pool Room but he volunteered and was accepted as the Cowboy's sparring partner.

"Even though Padgett was well past the 40 mark and was pretty badly battered he was one of the best conditioned boxers I've ever seen," Martin declared.

"I'll never forget the day I accompanied him on a road jaunt. He took me down through Wiley Ford and through the Western Maryland Railway tunnel and we ran most of the way. In fact, we covered so much ground that he really ran the legs off me."

"Didja ever look up that guy's record?" Martin queried. "Why he fought all the topnotchers — Mickey Walker, Jack Britton, Dave Shade, etc."

"When I first sparred with him in the gym he asked me whether I preferred to slug or box and I chose the latter. I believe he could stand on a dime and I couldn't get a solid lick at him."

"He held the young and upcoming Richardson from Johnston, Pa., to a draw at the Maryland Theatre about 1930. And I boxed 'Eck' Miers of Keyser in one of the prelims. I really got a bang out of that piece you wrote about the old cowboy. He was one grand fellow."

What is believed to be a new record for the Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League was set last week when Merle Kline of the Military Order of Purple Heart shut out both Boyer and Connors of the Woodmen of the World, 25-0.

Improvements made at the Bowie track under the supervision of Larry S. MacPhail include a new infield board, resembling a miniature modern apartment development.

The double wing board is the longest in the country. It is finished in terra cotta and yellow, stretches 217 feet and is nine feet high.

Bowie is now the only track in Maryland using the high speed projection method of flashing a picture of the photo finish to the placing judges, a system developed by the Crowley-Jones Camera Corporation.

Thirty seconds following the finish of a race the judges will view the finish, taking in the complete field, on a three-foot screen in the placing judges' stand.

Bowie opens its 13-day fall season November 17.

Don Decker, the ex-Fort Hill place-kicking ace and holder of the city record, is averaging .821 as extra point specialist for Maryland's great team. He's booted 23 points in 28 tries and also has a field goal to his credit.

Umpires To Meet

Big Ten Teams To Struggle For Rose Bowl Trip

Four Clubs Remain As Title Contenders

CHICAGO, Nov. 10 (AP)—The big squeeze is on in the Big Ten this week as the struggle for the football championship and Rose Bowl trip enters the semi-final stage.

With only two games to before the upset-harassed season ends Nov. 22, four teams remain as contenders.

Purdue is still ahead after the conference's wrecking-crew, Minnesota, fought the Boilermakers to a 14-14 standstill Saturday. Those two teams plus Wisconsin and Michigan make up the big four in the bunched showdown.

May Clear Up Muddle
The muddle may be cleared this Saturday at Ann Arbor when Purdue clashes with Michigan. A victory here for the Boilermakers would just about give them the crown and Rose Bowl assignment.

But Purdue must close out Nov. 22 against Indiana in a traditional state feud of the Old Oaken Bucket series—a rivalry that has been rife with upsets in the past. The Hoosiers so far have won only once in four Big Ten starts. They could salvage their entire season by knocking off Purdue.

Michigan, whose 3-1 league record matches Wisconsin, is ready to go all-out against Purdue. Michigan's finale is at Ohio State 3-2—another blistering rivalry.

With Michigan and Purdue at each other's throats, Wisconsin is in a position to take full advantage. The Badgers invade Indiana Saturday and figure to win despite their scare in snatching a 24-20 decision from eight-place North-western.

Minnesota, with three victories, one loss and a tie, meanwhile faces Nebraska in non-league competition.

Minnesota visits Wisconsin Nov. 22 in the finish.

Michigan Has Big Job
Summing up: Michigan can win or at least share the title by defeating both Purdue and Ohio State—the hardest job faced by any of the four leaders.

Purdue can hit the jackpot by defeating Michigan and Indiana. Wisconsin is in a fine spot to end with a 5-1 record which currently looks good enough to take it all. The Badgers figure to trim Indiana and are expected to be favored over Minnesota.

Fort Hill was not scheduled. Next Sunday at Bowman's Addition, Fort Hill will battle LaVale, while Cumberland and Hercules engage Mountain Top and Avilton at Grantsville.

Ban On Hunting Removed On All Pennsy Counties

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 10 (AP)—Gov. John S. Fine today opened all counties of Pennsylvania to hunting, effective at 7 a. m. Tuesday.

The governor, by proclamation, lifted a no-hunting ban on the remaining counties of the state. It had been imposed because of a threat of forest fire, due to lack of rain.

Because of the fire threat, Fine suspended opening of the small game season on Nov. 1 throughout the state. However, on Saturday he lifted the ban in 16 northwestern counties since the fire threat had lessened in that area. Today's action removed the ban throughout the state.

Cartier was leading on all three cards when he knocked Graham down three times in the hectic sixth and Referee Mark Conn stepped in to stop the fight at 1:31. Cartier weighed 162, Graham 157½.

Bedford High School's Bisons will windup their football season today by playing host to Berlin High School at 2 p. m. It will be Bedford's first daylight game at home in ten years.

LED SCORERS — Percy Snyder, center forward of Bruce High School's championship soccer team, led the scorers of the W.M.I. League for the 1952 season with six points to his credit. Snyder, a senior, booted five field goals and one penalty goal. The Westernport eleven scored 16 points this season while holding the opposition to seven.

Ed Mioduszewski Is Football Idol

Labeled Greatest Running Quarterback

WILLIAMSBURG, Va., Nov. 10 (AP)—Ed Mioduszewski has become the football idol of this small colonial community.

He plays quarterback for William and Mary's Indians. Mioduszewski's teammates and Coach Jackie Freeman call him "Meadows" for short. They figure it saves a lot of time.

He's played every position in the Indian backfield during his college career. Although actually a senior, he's merely a freshman as a quarterback.

Yet, Mioduszewski has been labeled by coaches of opposing teams and sports writers as the greatest running quarterback in college football today.

Meadows, a candidate for All-America honors, has mastered the split-T formation's deadly pitch-and-keep option play so well he's picked up 1,192 yards in total offense in the Tribe's seven games.

His yardage collection ranked him first in the Southern Conference last week and 18th

Grafton Earns Shot At Title

Plays Big Creek High
Nov. 22 For "A" Crown

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Nov. 10 (U. P.)—West Virginia's 1952 high school football championships will be decided the week end of Nov. 21-22 in clashes between Big Creek of War and Grafton for the Class A-crown and Monongah and Winfield in Class B.

The Class A playoff at Parkersburg Saturday afternoon, Nov. 22, will pit against each other two squads with 10-0 season records. Big Creek and Grafton have not met a common opponent and there is, therefore, little solid ground for comparison of the squads.

Parkersburg also is tentatively the site for the Class B, struggle the night of Nov. 21. But it could be shifted to a less neutral neighborhood if the schools agreed. Monongah 8-0 and Winfield 9-1 likewise have not met a single common foe.

Gallotette Stakes Is Set For Pimlico

BALTIMORE, Nov. 10 (U. P.)—Nine fillies and mares will try to become the first winners of Pimlico's Gallotette Stakes tomorrow.

The $25,000-added race at a mile and an eighth is named in honor of a great Maryland-bred mare.

A 4-year-old filly, Clarence Hartwick's Sickle's Image, probably will be favored. She has won three stakes this year and boasts earnings of $263,475.

Other stakes winners entered are Walter M. Jeffords' Kiss Me Kate, H. B. Delman's How, Woodvale Farm's Marta and Marian W. O'Connor's La Corredora. The other entries are Constance Moribito's My Celeste, M. J. Cremen's Be Gracious, King Ranch's Sufie and Christiana Stable Enchanted Eve.

Trophy Is Stolen

TORONTO, Nov. 10 (U. P.)—Police authorities searched today for the Orpen Gold Cup and Sauer, a 14-carat racing trophy, stolen from the home of E. P. Taylor. The trophy, valued at $500, was won by Taylor's horse, Canadiana, at the Long Branch track two months ago.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
L O N G F E W L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Daily Bridge Lesson by Shepard Barclay

UNABLE TO REALIZE IT FREQUENTLY a declarer, who has a sure thing available to him, in his play for the contract, fails to realize the situation. So he then proceeds according to what seems to him to be the probability of the moment. Unwillingness to do some simple card-counting is usually the factor that produces such a gamble, when totally unnecessary.

There was perhaps a bit of something the matter with all three departments of the game on this rubber deal—the bidding, the declarer's play and the defensive play. The first slip may have been South's bid of 4-Clubs, when his pass would have resulted in North bidding 3-No Trumps, an extremely easy contract and one which would have produced an extra trick if South finessed spades.

The playing error by declarer came in connection with that spade suit. West had led the diamond J to the Q and K and East had scored the A before returning the 4 for South to ruff with the club A. The latter then scored the club Q, J, K and 10 to draw trumps, and next the spade A, K and Q. He hoped that the last of these three tricks would establish the 10, but it instead built up the J for West. The diamond 10 and heart A were scored to give South a total of ten tricks, but then he lost the setter in spades.

South should have realized that the spade finesse was marked as a sure winner. He heard East bid hearts over the spades of North, and later East showed five diamonds as West discarded on the third round. That made ten of East's cards in the red suits. When East followed to one club, it marked him as having only two cards left in spades. So the third round finesse of the 10 would have been a sure winner to make the contract.

What do you think of East's lead of the diamond A to the second trick, when he could have retained a tenace position over dummy's 10? West's holding of the 9 would have made it impossible for South to set up the 10 without help.

If the club J is led to the A, and the heart K is returned, how should South play for 6-Diamonds?

On The Line by Bob Considine

NEW YORK—(INS)—Switching an American political administration is a massive undertaking. Mr. Truman, recovering from his first keen disappointment after learning that Gen. Eisenhower had won, was wise in asking the general to begin now with the task of taking over the countless reins of government.

Eisenhower has the enormous task of putting together a team that will not drop the baton in the running transfer of power. Not only that, in order to satisfy the record number of voters who gave him the country's top position, Eisenhower must find a team that will sprout the next four years a little more surely than the club which did the last stretch.

He will be known by his Cabinet, as are all presidents. The names of Warren Harding and Ulysses S. Grant are not pretty names in the annals of the presidency, not because either was personally corrupt but because some of the men they chose were.

The world is helping Eisenhower pick that Cabinet today while he, who'll do the deciding, practices how to miss four-foot putts on the practice green of the Augusta (Ga.) National, one of the world's most pleasant stretches of real estate.

In U. S. embassies from the Court of St. James to distant Formosa, American ambassadors are forwarding their resignations to the State Department—to be accepted or rejected by the new President. That is standard practice in U. S. diplomacy, where the highest offices in the foreign service are usually held by political appointees—usually heavy contributors to the winning candidate's campaign.

The "cream" will be skimmed off many other departments, beginning, of course, with the men of Cabinet and Little Cabinet rank, leaving the solid base of civil service employees on which a new hierarchy of public servants—chiefly Republican—will be placed.

The usual guesses have been made about Ike's Cabinet: Tom Dewey or John Dulles, secretary of state; Harold Stassen, secretary of labor; ex-Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, secretary of defense (if Ike doesn't decide to keep Republican Robert Lovett, a handy man around Capitol Hill, or if he can't persuade Dewey to take this one); attorney general, Earl Warren or Sen. Jim Duff of Pennsylvania; Gov. Dan Thornton, secretary of interior, or maybe Val Peterson of Nebraska; Winthrop Aldrich, secretary of treasury; Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire, Ike's chief of staff during the campaign; secretary of commerce; Frank Carlson of Kansas, secretary of agriculture; Arthur Summerfield, postmaster general.

The President asked Ike to send somebody to sit with the director of the budget, who, though working for the Truman administration, is now in the involved task of deciding just how much the Eisenhower administration will have to spend during the fiscal year of 1954.

This first brush of an Eisenhower economist with a Truman economist should prove highly revealing. One of the chief battle cries raised by the Democrats during the campaign was against Eisenhower's apparently careless statement of some time back that the budget could be cut by $40 billion.

A host of state secrets about which he has only the vaguest notion will have to be submitted to Eisenhower, some of them by the President himself.

Now he'll know exactly what we gave away at Yalta, an agreement whose full text has never been released. He'll know what happened at Potsdam, too, at the meetings he was not permitted to attend. He'll learn for the first time since he left the Pentagon to become president of Columbia University what's what in Gen. Bedell Smith's supersecret counter intelligence agency, and who's on file with the F.B.I.

He'll be brought up to the minute on the forthcoming atomic tests at Eniwetok, where the hydrogen bomb—or something close to it—may be tested. And learn all there is to know, or comprehend, about atomic research of a nature hitherto kept from him.

He may even learn, behind locked door, where Harry bought those shirts.

Efforts Resume To Settle Paper Workers Strike

Plan To Continue Negotiations Today

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (U. P.)—Union and company negotiators resumed efforts today to settle a strike at plants of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Co.

The negotiations were broken off recently after officials of the company and the CIO United Paperworkers Union failed to agree on a wage increase.

3,600 Workers Idle

Strikebound are plants at Luke, Md., with about 1,400 idle and at Covington, Va., where 2,200 workers are out.

Workers at the company's Williamsburg, Pa., plant recently voted 146 to 77 to return to work. Gilbert McCutchen, federal conciliator, told a reporter the talks started again today involve workers at all three plants. He declined to give any details of today's discussions, beyond saying that the talks may be continued tomorrow.

After the recent break-up of negotiations, a company spokesman said the union again rejected a four to five cent wage increase.

Two More Holidays

The company official said at that time that the company's offer also included two additional paid holidays and increases in shift differential pay, or a five cents wage boost with the extra cent offset by corresponding reductions in the other items.

This offer, company spokesmen added, was contingent on union acceptance of the exclusion of company guards from the bargaining unit, elimination of "pay for time not worked" in connection with the division of overtime, and certain changes in rules relating to work before and after holidays.

Local Man Held In $2,500 Bail On Bigamy Count

Ralph Wratchford Arrested In Towson

A local man was held in $2,500 bail for grand jury action yesterday at Towson on a charge of bigamy.

Baltimore County police listed him as Ralph Wratchford, 36, of Towson, formerly of Bowman's Addition. They said Wratchford, alias Ralph Brooks, was arrested after Allegany County authorities informed them he was wanted on a non-support charge in Allegany County Juvenile Court.

Detective Sergeants William H. Weinikam and Howard Bates came here Saturday to investigate. After talking with County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya, they found Mrs. Mary E. Wratchford and three children, of Bowman's Addition.

She told officers she and Wratchford had been married since December 3, 1939. Lilya, meanwhile, sent Baltimore County authorities a copy of the marriage certificate filed in the court house here.

Further investigation, Baltimore County police said, disclosed that Wratchford, using the name of Ralph Brooks, had recently married Fannie L. Justice, 42, of Towson, and was living with her on a farm there.

Lilya said Weinikam and Bates took a warrant with them charging Wratchford with non support and will be used as a detainer for local police.

Magistrate John Caslin set bail for Wratchford at a hearing yesterday in Towson and ordered him held for grand jury action.

Police, Fire Ball Will Be Held Friday

Romero Orchestra To Play For Dance

Members of the Police and Firemen's Welfare Association soon will begin decorating the State Armory in preparation for the annual Police and Firemen's Ball, which will be held Friday night.

Capt. Vincent H. Wegman of the Fire Department, who is general chairman, said plenty of tickets are still available. They may be obtained at Police Headquarters or at Central Fire Station, or they may be ordered by telephone.

Seating arrangements are being made for 450 to 500 persons, and final arrangements are being completed by Firemen John Morrissey and John Spiker, assisted by a crew of police and firemen.

Russ Romero's Orchestra will play for the ball again this year. Wegman said the band is returning here by popular request.

A dance program, now at the printer's, includes pictures and articles on the functions of the Welfare Association. It was prepared by Police Officer Robert R. Hammann, Fireman Jacob Winters and William M. Hartung, and Wegman.

Assistant Fire Chief Robert C. Long is in charge of ticket sales. His committee includes Officers James Snyder and John Daum of the Police Department, Fire Captain Thomas Lindner and Firemen R. E. Leidinger, James Hunter, John Carney and George Lease.

Deadline dates for the submission of applications in February and applicants will be notified of selection or non-selection as soon as possible thereafter. If selected by the Chief of Naval Personnel the applicant is considered to be enrolled in the ROC program and will be entitled to a draft deferment as long as he is so enrolled.

Further information on the program may be acquired by visiting the Naval Reserve Training Center on Mc Kai's Hill or by calling Cmdr. Woodson.

Another quarter-century anniversary date was marked yesterday at Celanese Corporation of America's Amcelle plant as two employees, William H. Sisk and Thomas R. Trece, completed 25 years of service with the textile concern.

Each was presented a gold watch by the plant manager at ceremonies conducted at the plant.

Sisk, who lives at 39 Mary Street, is a laboratory assistant in Department Eight, CA, is married and the father of two daughters of high school age. His hobbies are fishing and raising peonies and he is affiliated with Loyal Order of Moose Lodge No. 271, Fraternal Order of Eagles, Aerie No. 245, and Tonkaway Tribe No. 120, Improved Order of Red Men.

Trece, a Lonaconing resident, is a tool room attendant in the Spinning Engineers workshop and has worked in the Cellulose Acetate Engineering department.

Trece is married and the father of a 16-year-old daughter. For many years he has been a member of the Lonaconing American Legion.

W. J. Elvin, plant manager, awarded Trece an engraved quarter-century certificate of service and the traditional five-star Celanese service emblem. Herman Rainalter, superintendent of CA department, made similar awards to Sisk.

Allegany County's Adults Want Additional Schooling

(Editor's Note: This is the first in a series of five articles concerning Allegany County's school program. The series is a feature of American Education Week.)

By ALBERT D. DARBY News Staff Writer

There was a time when a person never set foot inside a classroom once he was graduated from or quit school.

However, in recent years more and more adults have realized the importance of continuing their education long after they have completed their prescribed course for a high school diploma or a college degree.

This desire has given rise to adult education, the purpose of which is to increase the cultural, civic and occupational knowledge of people in a community.

Here in Allegany County, adult education had a very modest beginning back in 1923 when only about 20 persons were enrolled in a single class. By 1941 the program had expanded to 25 different courses with an enrollment of approximately 500 students.

By the 1951-52 school year—the program has grown to 81 courses with about 1,800 students. That was the peak.

State Aid Cut

J. D. Lonnholm, supervisor of vocational education, who is in charge of the adult education activities, notes that the program this year has had to be curtailed because of a cut in state funds. Because of this depletion this year there are only 41 classes and an enrollment of 882.

The odd fact about the reduction in the number of adult education classes here is that it has resulted from a vast expansion of such programs around the state. Some counties which had very limited education programs for adults now have an increased number of classes. This growth has necessitated a redistribution of state money with the result that counties which always had large programs are now receiving less state aid.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster disclosed that the adult education program in the county during the 1951-52 fiscal year cost a total of $21,990.50. A small portion of this was Federal money for home economics and agriculture classes. However, nearly all of the funds came from state sources.

When the County Board of Education begins considering the budget for 1953-54 next spring, Webster plans to seek some local funds to make up the state reduction.

Six Centers Open

Despite the reduction in funds, adult education centers are operating in Cumberland, Frostburg, Mt. Savage, Lonaconing, Westernport and Cresaptown. Instructors are drawn from among the public school teachers, from business and industry and from other persons who have gained a reputation in certain specialized fields. Sixteen public school teachers also are instructing classes related to their daily work. Nineteen other instructors are drawn from other fields of endeavor. Included are housewives especially proficient in dressmaking. Others are teaching classes ranging from art to rug making and antique appreciation. These instructors all are approved by the State Department of Education.

One of the brightest spots in the adult education picture in Allegany County this year is Mt. Savage, where the new $1,600,000 high school was just completed last summer. In the past several years only a couple of sewing classes were held in a church parish house there.

Lonnholm reports that this year more than 100 residents of the Mt. Savage area are enrolled in night classes in the brand new school. There now are three sewing classes plus one each in typing and woodwork.

Many Subjects Taught

Allegany County adults have been offered a wide range of subjects in their night school centers. Among them are machine shop, cabinet making, electric motor repairing, blueprint reading, radio repairing, women's woodwork, wood and metalcraft, high school mathematics, group leadership, electricity, advanced typing, shorthand, bookkeeping, oil painting, mechanical drawing and architectural drawing. Also effective speaking, pencil sketching, water color painting, charcoal sketching, Spanish, English, piano instruction, sewing, photography, business arithmetic, law, leathercraft, showcard writing, furniture, antique appreciation, plastics refinishing and hobby crafts.

Naval Reserve Begins Officer Training School

Lieutenant Commander W. E. Woodson, Jr., Inspector-Instructor for the local Naval Reserve announced today that applications for the Naval Reserve Officer Candidate Program will be accepted during the month of January, 1953. The program is established to provide a continuing influx of new and well-qualified Naval Reserve Officers in order to keep the Naval Reserve at officer personnel strength.

Since a good educational background is essential, selection is restricted to college students who are members of the Naval Reserve. Thus, the ROC program is the only officer procurement program which requires membership in the Naval Reserve.

It is open to any member of the Naval Reserve, male or female, who is currently enrolled in and attending, as a full time day student in good scholastic standing, an accredited junior college, college, or university. Candidates must be able to complete the two required summer training periods not later than the summer immediately following the receipt of their baccalaureate degree. Consequently, college seniors are not eligible.

While there is no competitive examination required, only about 1,200 men and 160 women were authorized to become enrolled in the program last year, and of these, the Fifth Naval District quota was 180 men. Final selection is made by the Chief of Naval Personnel, Washington, D. C.

Those students who are selected do not receive financial support for their college expenses, and are not required to take additional naval studies in college as a result of this program. They receive drill pay, and full pay and allowances while attending the six week ROC school.

Deadline dates for the submission of applications in February and applicants will be notified of selection or non-selection as soon as possible thereafter. If selected by the Chief of Naval Personnel the applicant is considered to be enrolled in the ROC program and will be entitled to a draft deferment as long as he is so enrolled.

Police Morale Aired At Council Meeting

Long Releases Copies Of Two City Orders

Will Answer Charge Affecting Efficiency

Police, Firemen Present Program

Queried last night about the lengthy discussion at City Council meeting yesterday in which Thomas N. Berry, attorney for the Police and Firemen's Welfare Association charged that efficiency of the Police department is low, Commissioner of Police and Fire John J. Long replied as follows:

"Well, Mr. Berry was discussing some questions regarding the Police Department and made a number of statements which I plan to answer. I want to answer these in detail after I have read the stenographer's transcript of the meeting."

Refuses To Sign

Commissioner Long was then asked, "What are the issues in question?"

He replied, "I can best answer that by reading to you copies of two orders. These orders were prepared by the mayor and presented to me. One was prepared for my signature. I refused to sign it and am at this time opposed to both of these orders. It appears the things Mr. Berry was discussing are included in these two orders."

Would Cost $100

He said submitting the case to arbitration would cost the city about $100, and would take the dispute "out of the political field."

Berry charged that countermanding of Council orders "is affecting police unit efficiency" and that the unit is "suffering acutely from loss of morale."

He recalled that a series of orders had been countermanded by Commissioner John J. Long referring specifically to the abolishment of the Traffic Bureau and the lieutenant in charge of that bureau. This he termed a "unilateral action by the commissioner under the faces of the council."

Berry cited the cases of Powell, Patrolman Thomas J. See and Lt. James E. Van in which the commissioner had, as he termed it, countermanded council orders.

The effects of these actions, Berry contended, is that the written law has been thrown out the window.

Situation Untenable

The attorney continued that from the standpoint of employer-employee relations, the situation is "untenable." However, the attorney said he is not questioning Long's ideas of efficiency.

Berry added that the men have no concept of job security and are underpaid. In view of the fact men are underpaid, job security is of primary importance, he maintained.

Mayor Roy W. Eves told Berry that the council "is not unaware of several things you brought out" and that some of them have been the subject of conversations between himself, Long and Finan.

The Mayor said the city is trying to work out something without disrupting the department. An order has been prepared, regarding compensation for detectives, but more time is required for study.

There were some things, the Mayor said, of which he was unaware. He said he did not believe an arbitrator necessary and expressed the belief the Mayor and Council could work the situation out amicably. He urged Berry to "have patience."

Here, Berry brought up another point, the matter of men of one classification working in another with higher pay, but not receiving the higher rate of pay. He said he could not justify that action under present standards.

But Berry stressed several times in his statement that the actions seemed to be based on the fact they had always been done that way. He asked that changes be made in the law.

Commissioner Long sat silent during the Berry statement, but said he would have an answer ready for him later after receiving a transcript of the proceedings.

However, he did attempt to answer several points. He said he was glad Berry had brought the matter into the open.

Then turning to Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn Long asked: "Chief do you feel the maximum efficiency of the 52 men in the department is down?"

And Chief Flynn answered: "No, I don't believe it is down."

Long referred to the FBI ratings, other police unit commendations and the traffic safety record

Commissioner Long then added, "The Civil Service Commission, a non-political body, was asked by the Mayor and City Council sometime ago to reclassify all city employees including those of the police department. I understand they are engaged in this reclassification work and are getting the best professional advice obtainable."

"I intend to make no changes in the police department until we have received the report from this commission."
